Turtles have their day

LOCALS are invited to learn more about ways to care for turtles by celebrating World Turtle Day next week.

World Turtle Day is designed to educate people and raise awareness about the plight of turtles around the world.

Conservation Volunteers Australia will be carrying out significant conservation and research activities to help marine turtles, and this year two events are being held.

Regional manager Kevin Smith will host a beach walk and a turtle talk, starting at the Surf Club lawn at 7.30am on Monday, May 23.

Broome Sea Turtle Information Centre at Woody's Arcade in Chinatown will host a turtle movie evening at 7pm.

On Sunday, May 22 Environs Kimberley will be hosting a sand-turtle building event at 9am. For information contact Kevin Smith on 9192 6198.
